About the Chamber...

The Hart County Chamber of Commerce was formed in 1986. It is composed of large and small businesses, civic minded individuals, government officials, non-profit organizations, farmers, and professionals—all working together to foster economic growth, positive development, and an improved quality of life for the citizens of Hart County.

What's In It For You?

There are many advantages to belonging to the Hart County Chamber of Commerce. In addition to the satisfaction of contributing to the advancement of our local communities, there are direct and tangible advantages that can have a very positive impact on your business or organization's day to day operation .

• New Business Contacts

The Chamber's quarterly membership meetings and other business gatherings provide you and your employees the opportunity to network with other business and professional people, develop additional business contacts, and receive valuable information on numerous topics of interest.

• Additional Client Exposure

Joining a chamber committee, becoming an Ambassador, or assisting with specific projects provides even more exposure to community stakeholders.

• Online Business Directory

Chamber members receive a free listing in the Chamber's online business directory thereby giving you additional "web" presence.

• Business Promotion

Business After Hours and Ribbon Cutting ceremonies are available to chamber members at no charge. There is no better way to showcase a business than to invite others in to see the job that you're doing first-hand. Also, each week a chamber business is spotlighted in the Hart County News-Herald and on WLOC radio station. A concentrated promotion effort that is free to chamber members. The Chamber also promotes its members regularly through social media.

• Seminars & Professional Training

The Chamber schedules periodic seminars and educational courses on a variety of topics to provide business owners and their staff with management tools and information helpful in making decisions. Reduced seminar fees are offered to chamber members; many of them are free.

• Weekly E-Newsletter and Monthly Newsletter to Keep You Informed

Provides useful information on business related topics, plus includes an update on community events and projects.

• Statistical and Economic Data

The Chamber has a varied collection of statistical and economic data on Hart County. We also provide reference directories, SBA publications, demographic data, and other documents to assist you in researching questions affecting your business plans.

• Calendar of Events

The Chamber office maintains a community calendar to help promote member activities to the public. Be sure to let us know about your special events.
